Please tell us what kind of work you'd like to write for the Symphony (i.e., orchestra alone, orchestra with soloist(s), orchestra with electronics, multimedia, etc.). Note: this is not a commitment. You're just providing us an idea of what direction you're considering right now.

We will accept any format that gives us a short, clear preview of what you propose to write for the Symphony. This can include score samples, recordings, videos, and links to online content. You are not expected to submit completed works since you are presenting a sample of your writing to show your compositional style and what you are interested in writing. Note: scores should not exceed four pages, and music or video samples should be no longer than five minutes.
